Governor and Members of the Legislature:

I am pleased to submit to you the New York State Commission of Correction Annual Report for the year 2013.

The Commission continues to stand by its mission to provide a safe, stable and humane correctional system in New York State. Governor Andrew Cuomo's commitment to the improvement of the correctional system in New York and his support of corrections professionals throughout the state gives the Commission added leverage to further its mission.

The statutory mandate of the State Commission of Correction is a broad and multi-faceted one. The Commission has continuously carried out its mandate effectively and efficiently, and stands out in the correctional arena as an innovator and provider of quality services to New York State.

The Commission's commitment to the correctional community and the people of New York State will remain strong. The agency looks forward to continuing to serve the best interests of both.

Respectfully,

Thomas A. Beilein
Chairman

cc: Thomas P. Abt
Deputy Secretary for Public Safety

HISTORY

The State Commission of Correction is the current-day embodiment of the New York State Commission of Prisons, which was established in July of 1895. The Commission of Prisons was meant to function as an autonomous body for the sole purpose of monitoring all detention and correctional facilities within the State.

While the State Commission of Correction essentially functioned in its original capacity for almost eighty years, in the 1970's, the Commission underwent a series of administrative and legal changes that significantly affected its mission in the correctional field.

As the State Commission of Correction's autonomy and mission were expanded and made more credible, the Governor and Legislature also restructured the agency's administration. A full-time, three member Commission was established, appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Citizen's Policy and Complaint Review Council (CPCRC), consisting of nine gubernatorial appointed positions, of which seven are currently filled, was also established, and the Medical Review Board was reorganized.

CORRECTIONAL OVERSIGHT LEGAL AUTHORITY

Correctional facilities in New York State operate pursuant to a body of carefully formulated constitutional and statutory law and regulations. The State Commission of Correction's legal authority is derived from the following:

- County Law, Article 5, Section 217: "Each county shall continue to maintain a county jail as prescribed by law."
- Correction Law, Article 6: Management of state correctional facilities.
- Correction Law, Article 20: Statutory provisions governing New York State penitentiaries and jails.
- Article XVII, Section 5 of the New York State Constitution provides that there shall be a State Commission of Correction, which shall visit and inspect all institutions used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime.
- Correction Law, Article 3, establishes the Commission and its oversight and regulatory powers. Section 45(6) of the Correction Law provides for the State Commission of Correction to promulgate rules and regulations establishing minimum standards for the care, custody, correction, treatment, supervision, discipline, and other correctional programs for all persons confined in correctional facilities for adults and correctional facilities for juvenile offenders.
- Title 9, Subtitle AA of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York contains the minimum standards and regulations for the management of correctional facilities, as promulgated by the State Commission of Correction.

ORGANIZATIONAL AND STATUTORY AUTHORITY

The New York State Commission of Correction is an Executive Department correctional oversight and technical services agency first established in the New York State Constitution (Article XVII) in 1895. The Commission's services are delivered to all state and county correctional facilities, police department detention and facilities in New York City. Its organization, functions, powers and duties are set forth in New York State Correction Law, Article 3.

The Commission's duties include:

- advising the Governor on correctional policy;
- promulgation of rules and regulations establishing minimum standards for the care, custody, treatment, supervision and discipline for all persons confined in correctional facilities;
- ensuring compliance with minimum standards;
- monitoring, adjusting and enhancing prison and jail population capacity;
- reviewing all inmate grievances, complaints, and reportable incidents;
- overseeing new correctional facility development;
- providing staffing services;
- assisting in the implementation of new correctional technologies;
- review of inmate mortality;
- evaluation and development of health and mental health services; and
- overseeing secure juvenile centers operated by the NYS Office of Children and Family Services.

The Commission's mission is to provide for a safe, stable and humane correctional system and for the delivery of essential services therein. The three deliberative members of the Commission are appointed by the Governor to statutory terms with the advice and consent of the New York State Senate. One commissioner serves as chair and chief executive officer. The other two commissioners are assigned to head the Medical Review Board and Citizen's Policy and Complaint Review Council respectively, members of which are also appointed to terms by the Governor.

The Commission is primarily a field services agency with 18 Correctional Facility Specialists in its Field Operations Bureau and Forensic Medical Unit. Legal, executive and support services complete the agency's current staff complement of 25. The present staff represents a reorganized approach to the agency mission associated with a downsizing and streamlining of operations.

In summary, the Commission is a small, specialized criminal justice service agency supporting the statewide correctional community, working on behalf of the Governor to professionalize and enhance the quality of corrections in New York.

MEDICAL REVIEW BOARD

The Medical Review Board (MRB) was established by the Legislature in 1972 to investigate deaths in correctional facilities within the state and to make recommendations for improving the delivery of health care to detainees and sentenced offenders.

Section 46 of the Correction Law provides for an organized Correction Medical Review Board within the State Commission of Correction. The Board must consist of two physicians who are board certified respectively in forensic pathology and forensic psychiatry, another physician, an attorney admitted to the New York Bar, and two at-large members, all appointed by the Governor to statutory terms with advice and consent of the Senate.

Section 47 of the Correction Law empowers the Board to:

“(1.) (a) Investigate and review the cause and circumstances of the death of any inmate of a correctional facility and,

(1.) (e) Investigate and report to the Commission on the condition of systems for the delivery of medical care to inmates of correctional facilities and where appropriate, recommend such changes as it shall deem necessary and proper to improve the quality and availability of such medical care.”

The Commission and the Medical Review Board pursue the following objectives:

- Conduct timely and thorough investigations of all mortality and serious incident cases in the correctional system;
- Develop and administer cost-effective plans, projects, and programs to address identified problems in the health care delivery of all correctional facilities; and
- Maintain continuous oversight of correctional health care trends by substantive response to inmate health care grievances and review of Medical Review Board recommendations.

The Medical Review Board meets on a quarterly basis. The 2013 MRB members included:

Phyllis Harrison-Ross, M.D., Chairperson
Michael Baden, M.D.
Robert Kurtz, M.D.
Bruce David, M.D.
Scott S. Coyne, M.D.
Marjorie Blieka, M.D.
Allison Bishop, Esq.

CITIZEN'S POLICY AND COMPLAINT REVIEW COUNCIL

The Council was established by the Legislature to address the need for increased public participation in the oversight and regulation of local correctional facilities. Its mandate includes: improving conditions in local correctional facilities, overseeing the inmate complaint and grievance process, and advising the Commission.

The Council is comprised of nine members appointed by the Governor with advice and consent of the Senate. The statute requires that one member shall have been a Vietnam veteran, or a licensed mental health professional with expertise in Post-traumatic Stress Disorder, an attorney, a former inmate of a correctional facility, a former Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS) resident, and a former OCFS employee.

The Citizen's Policy and Complaint Review Council (CPCRC) convenes monthly. The 2013 CPCRC members included:

Thomas Loughren, Chair
Thomas Cross
Theodore Hilscher, Esq.
Nicholas LaBella, Jr.
Douglas Landon, Esq.
Jimmie Seright
Julie Scalione, Esq.

BUREAU OF FIELD OPERATIONS

The Bureau of Field Operations has primary responsibility for performing the Commission's agency functions. Among them are correctional facility compliance assessments, incident reviews and investigations, mortality investigations, health system evaluations, inmate grievance and complaint review, facility planning and a variety of technical assistance.

The Bureau of Field Operations operates throughout the correctional systems of New York State. These systems include all state, county, and New York City correctional facilities, as well as local police department lockups and those secure facilities operated by the New York State Office of Children of Family Services. In 2010, the Bureau of Field Operations was organized into three regions: Hudson Lakes, Capital West, and Metro South-Central.

Facility Compliance: Assessment and Monitoring Field Work, Incidents, Complaints & Grievances

Field staff based in both Albany and New York City conducted on-site visits to various state and local correctional facilities. This fieldwork included assessing facility operational compliance with the Commission's minimum standards, monitoring unusual conditions (e.g. disturbances, strikes, job actions, unstable conditions), evaluating management practices, preparing comprehensive reports and providing technical assistance to facility administrators. In the event that issues of non-compliance remain unresolved, the Commission has recourse through the courts.

Individual Facility Plan Development: Minimum Standards Compliance Assessment

Commission field staff begins each calendar year by preparing an Individual Facility Plan (IFP) for each of their assigned county correctional facilities. The IFP is best described as a 12-month comprehensive facility work plan. This plan can follow several different paths depending upon the compliance status of the particular facility. An IFP may include assessing the compliance of six to twelve standards, or it may call for field staff to focus more intensely on a limited number of standards that have proven problematic for the jail over an extended period. In such circumstances, the onsite work is more concentrated and requires even greater collaboration between field staff and facility officials in order to identify mutually acceptable remedial strategies.

By deploying staff resources in this fashion, the Commission believes it can be more successful in its mission to assist all county facilities in attaining substantial compliance with 9 NYCRR. To ensure that no parts of New York State Minimum Standards are overlooked for extended periods, the Commission's IFP model requires field staff assess each standard once every five years, regardless of the facility's overall compliance status.

In addition to the compliance assessment activities described above, field staff also schedule regular follow-up site reviews and provide various forms of technical assistance to facilities throughout the year. These additional forms of monitoring activities serve to augment the more standardized compliance assessment work. Staff periodically conducts unannounced site visits to facilities as a way of more closely monitoring operational competencies. Such visits also provide staff with a window in order to scrutinize a facility's climate and physical plant conditions. Finally, Commission staff makes every effort to maintain an open and ongoing dialog with facility management throughout the year. Such sustained communication helps to ensure that field staff has an accurate understanding of the day-to-day operational challenges confronting local facility management and staff.

Whenever issues of non-compliance are identified, Commission staff brings their findings to the attention of the sheriff, chief administrative officer or responsible county commissioner. Commission staff prepares reports that outline non-compliance findings and specific remedial action(s) the facility is expected to implement. Staff periodically recommends actions that can help to ameliorate certain operational inefficiencies. Commission staff schedule frequent follow-up site visits to facilities as a means of ensuring that any necessary remedial steps have been properly implemented.

The following list represents the New York State Minimum Standards (9 NYCRR) pertaining to the management of county correctional facilities:

County Facility Reportable Incidents

In fulfilling its oversight and regulatory responsibilities, the Commission requires that all local correctional facilities report incidents that endanger inmates or staff, or disrupt facility operations. The Commission received 2220 categories of Reportable Incidents from the county jail systems this past year. Incidents are reported around the clock. Every incident report is screened by a Correctional Facility Specialist, logged, and assigned a file number. The reports are then reviewed to determine the necessary level of inquiry or other response.

Office of Children and Family Services' Facility Reportable Incidents

Pursuant to New York State Correction Law, §§45 [6-b] and 47 [2], the five (5) secure centers operated by the New York State Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS) are required to report to the State Commission of Correction all incidents deemed to be of a serious or potentially problematic nature. Reports are received by Commission staff twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. Each individual report is reviewed by a facility specialist, assigned a tracking number and logged in the Commission's incident data base. In many cases OCFS incidents involve more than one category type. For example, an incident reported by OCFS as a "major disturbance," may also have involved a "resident on resident assault" or "resident group action." Although not counted below, when such multiple incidents are identified, Commission staff record them individually in order to ensure that all such serious incidents are properly recorded and tracked. Following this initial review, the Commission then determines if additional information should be gathered or if the incident merits an on-site investigation.

Local Police Reportable Incidents

Pursuant to Correction Law, §45[6], local police departments operating lockups are required to report to the Commission those incidents deemed to be of an unusual nature which may endanger detainees, law enforcement staff, or otherwise disrupt facility operations. In 2013, the Commission received 727 reportable incidents from local police agencies. Reportable incidents are received around the clock. Every incident report is reviewed by a Facility Specialist, assigned a tracking number and logged. Based upon the initial review, it is then determined if additional inquiry, technical assistance, or an on-site investigation is necessary.

Complaints

Complaints from inmates, their families, advocates, elected officials and other state and local agencies are received by the Commission on a daily basis. When complaints are received, they are classified and electronically logged. Many county complaints can be addressed through the facility grievance process. Such complaints are typically returned to the sender for filing with the facility grievance program. Those retained are referred to a Correctional Facility Specialist for response. Health complaints are referred directly to the Commission's Forensic Medical Unit for review and follow-up when appropriate. An electronic query of the complaints received from a particular facility is generated by field staff as part of their preparation for future site visits.

Beginning in 1984, the Commission developed a procedure for the centralized compilation of inmate complaints from state and local facilities. This procedure breaks down complaints into discrete categories, and allows Correctional Facility Specialists to address specific problems and trends in a systematic fashion. Inmates often report multiple issues within a single piece of correspondence. In 2013, 1939 complaint letters were received by the Commission regarding 3483 individual categories of complaints. The numbers below reflect the breakdown of those complaint categories as submitted by both state and local inmates.

Grievances

According to the Commission's Minimum Standards, 9 NYCRR Part 7032, each county correctional facility is required to establish, implement and maintain a formal inmate grievance program. This program allows inmates a process at the facility level to address their complaints regarding written or unwritten facility policies, procedures, rules, practices, programs, or the action or inaction of any person within the facility. If a grievance is denied at the facility level, inmates have the option to appeal that disposition to the Commission within a specified time frame. Appeals are forwarded to the Commission for review and disposition by the Citizen's Policy and Complaint Review Council (CPCRC). During 2013, the Commission received 1812 grievances regarding 1873 categories of allegations. (See Table V). When grievances are appealed to the Commission, they are reviewed, categorized, electronically filed. Grievances are forwarded to the Correctional Facility Specialist assigned to the sending facility. Grievances that pertain to health care matters are forwarded directly to the Forensic Medical Unit for processing. Grievances are thoroughly reviewed and researched by the Correctional Facility Specialist, the Deputy Director of Operations, and the Commission's Office of Counsel. Grievances are then put before the CPCRC for final disposition. Both the inmate/grievant and facility officials receive a written decision from the CPCRC for each grievance received. As with complaints, field staff runs a data base report to tabulate the total number of grievances, by category, prior to any scheduled county jail site visit.

Capacity Management

At the end of 2013, there were approximately 80,167 persons incarcerated within New York State's prisons, local county jails and the New York City Department of Correction (NYCDOC). As a result, inmate capacity management within various facilities can be problematic due to overcrowding. The Commission continually monitors the capacities of these facilities, via a daily electronic population reporting system for county facilities, and via facsimile for New York City and state prisons. The latter is also utilized to monitor the census of all county-sentenced inmates scheduled for transfer to a state facility. In 2013 SCOC revised the Maximum Facility Capacity at the following facilities:

County and NYC Facilities

Erie County Holding Center
 Essex County Jail
 Genesee County Jail
 Greene County Jail
 Monroe County Jail – Public Safety Building (PSB) Housing
 Monroe County Correctional Facility (Penitentiary)
 Suffolk County Jail - Riverhead
 Suffolk County Jail - Yaphank
 Washington County Jail
 West Facility Central Intake (NYC DOC)

State Facilities

NYS DOCCS - Eastern Correctional Facility
 NYS DOCCS - Edgecombe Correctional Facility
 NYS DOCCS - Green Haven Correctional Facility
 NYS DOCCS - Shawangunk Correctional Facility
 NYS DOCCS - Sing-Sing Correctional Facility
 NYS DOCCS - Sullivan Correctional Facility

When capacity issues arise, the Commission employs its statutory authority under Correction Law section 504 to move local prisoners from overpopulated facilities to those with available housing. The Commission's authority to set facility prisoner capacities allows it to evaluate and approve temporary or interim space in crowded local facilities. This authority also allows the Commission to authorize double-bunking and double-celling programs in the DOCCS.

Double-Bunking, Double-Celling, & Special Housing
New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS)

By the end of 2013, double-bunked cells within the NYS DOCCS totaled 103 beds in both Walkill and Clinton Correctional Facilities. In addition, the Commission had sanctioned the use of an additional 1,400 cells, located in seven 200-bed housing areas, designated as S-Blocks, or Special Housing Units, in which each cell is permanently approved to house two individuals.

During the 2013 reporting period, Commission staff conducted site visits to the two facilities managing double-bunk variances and inspected each double-bunked housing area to assess the general physical condition of the space. The condition and operation of any equipment was also examined. In addition, SCOC staff noted the degree to which normal inmate services were impacted by double-bunking, such as medical, dental, food services, visitation, laundry services and the availability of academic and vocational programs.

Variations

This aspect of the Capacity Management program primarily grants authority to state and local correctional administrators to safely and securely house inmates in excess of facility capacity. Variance relief also assists jail administrators with problems such as an inability to achieve compliance with certain minimum standards within a certain time frame, or a need to employ alternative methods of compliance not contemplated by Commission Minimum Standards. According to this procedure, facility administrators may apply to the State Commission of Correction in order to seek relief from the requirements of a specific standard. All such applications result in site visits to assess the need for such a variance and determine the possible impact the variance could have on the facility's current operation. All variances are tracked by the Commission's Field Operations staff. Operational areas of a facility operating under an approved variance granted by the State Commission of Correction are routinely assessed by field staff during facility site visits.

During 2013, Commission staff continued to evaluate areas that required variance relief in addition to preparing written variance recommendations for Commission consideration. For the year 2013, the Commission considered a total of 64 new or renewed variance applications.

Facility Planning and Improvement

The basic function relegated to Facility Planning and Improvement is set forth in two areas of New York State Law. According to NYS Correction Law, section 45(10), the State Commission of Correction shall “approve or reject plans and specifications for the construction or improvement of correctional facilities.” The second area is found in County Law, section 216.

This statute states, “No site or location for any county jail shall be selected or acquired by such board of supervisors which shall not have been approved by the state commission of correction.”

The Commission provides technical planning, capital project development and construction plan review services for development of new correctional facilities. The Commission has viewed the modernization of an aging and overcrowded local correctional infrastructure as a major priority. The agency reviews and approves site selection and construction plans, monitors progress, and assists in problem identification and solution. In carrying out these responsibilities, staff responsibility goes far beyond the simple review of blueprints and plans. Particular attention is directed to building code requirements, operational rules and regulations, and case law affecting conditions of confinement. Additionally, Commission staff provides local decision makers with technical assistance to help assure the jurisdiction of satisfactory, safe and secure methods of incarcerating offenders in a cost effective manner.

During 2013, findings and determination reports relative to construction plans and specification were prepared by Commission staff and forwarded with recommended action on forty (40) projects variously submitted by the New York State Department of Correction and Community Supervision (NYS DOCCS), county correctional facilities, police/court detention units, or the New York City Department of Correction (NYCDOC). New Institutions Transition Assistance Program (NITAP)

Through its New Institutions Transition Assistance Program (NITAP), Commission technical assistance teams work closely with localities constructing new correctional facilities or additions to existing facilities. Such assistance includes policy and procedure reviews, staff training, reviews of moving logistics plans, on-site monitoring of inmate transfers and post-transition jail operations. During the new facility transition process, the Commission establishes formal liaisons with county executives and managers, legislative public safety committees, and county sheriffs. The Commission and its staff meet regularly with all involved officials, correctional facility executive teams and facility transition staff to assess transition-related progress to ensure that new institutions are opened and operated in a safe, efficient, and cost-effective manner.

Staffing Services

Commission Minimum Standards, 9 NYCRR Part 7041, Staffing Requirements, provide that the Commission shall determine the minimum number of staff necessary to operate each correctional facility in New York. Upstate county jails and New York City correctional facilities are unique institutions with wide variation in size, age, and configuration. Each must be staffed at a cost-effective level that provides for adequate levels of inmate supervision and for staff and public safety. The Commission provides the correctional staffing services for all county correctional facilities and more recently, for the City of New York. Commission staffing specialists travel to facilities upon local government request, and to all newly constructed facilities. The staffing assessment is based on specific correctional functions, physical plant configuration, inmate population trends, and other factors unique to a particular correctional facility. Detailed guidelines direct staff in developing a facility staffing plan. A proposed minimum institutional position and staffing analysis is prepared, and then negotiated to consensus with county legislative officials, the county executive, sheriff or commissioner. The Commission affords timely security staffing expertise not available in localities, eases the local criminal justice budget process and promotes local government confidence in the safety of widely disparate facilities.

During the 2013 reporting period the revision of six staffing analyses was finalized by Field Operations staff:

- Albany County Jail - Administrative position modified
- Clinton County Jail - Position and Staffing Analysis revised
- Delaware County Jail - Position and Staffing Analysis revised

Technical Assistance

During the course of field evaluations, Commission staff frequently renders technical assistance to facility administrators in order to resolve any number of problems. Generally, the assistance involves policy and procedures review, standards interpretation, referrals to other agencies, training issues, development of operational procedures, modifications or improvements to physical plant and implementation strategies. Staff record significant technical assistance contacts so that the data can be used to identify future projects.

Information Management

The Commission is the only central repository for local correctional information in New York State. The Commission provides electronic and retrospective management information to assist local correctional administrators. The Jails Daily Population Reporting System reports inmate population counts in all local facilities each day through the eJustice Portal. The Commission also tracks New York City population levels, parole violators and "state-ready" inmates in jails. The Sheriffs' Annual Report provides comprehensive data from sheriffs on admissions, discharges and inmate demographics. SCOC works with the Rockefeller Institute of Government in that organization's preparation of its annual publication of public safety and criminal justice statistics.

Chairman's Memoranda

The Commission is a key player in the delivery of salient correctional management information and education to county correctional facilities. The Chairman's Memorandum, a bulletin that is sent to all county sheriffs and administrators of correctional facilities and police departments, is an efficient vehicle for the delivery of such information. In 2013 the following Memoranda were issued:

- Chairman's Memorandum #1 Benzodiazepine Withdrawal and Treatment
- Chairman's Memorandum #2 Veteran's Justice Outreach Initiative
- Chairman's Memorandum #3 Changes to NYS Public Health Law

FORENSIC MEDICAL UNIT

The Forensic Medical Unit is a Field Operations unit within the State Commission of Correction. This unit is intended to fulfill the health care oversight mandate of Correction Law, Article 3 by providing the SCOC and its Medical Review Board (MRB) with expertise in the investigation of inmate mortality, the evaluation of State and local correctional facility health care delivery. The unit also provides technical assistance to state and local correctional facilities for the improvement of health care delivery. Technical assistance is regularly provided in the development of health care delivery procedures including tuberculosis control, occupational health and safety, health care staffing, health facility designs and handling of pharmaceuticals among others. Each year a number of New York's jails are visited by trained health care system evaluators. Health care delivery systems are evaluated in each facility, recommendations are made and technical assistance is rendered. The Forensic Medical Unit also presents its cases to the MRB, investigates medical grievances and complaints, and conducts various special investigations as directed by the Commission. This includes the following activities:

- Field mortality investigation;
- Health services evaluation;
- Standards development and compliance;
- Resolution of complaints and grievances;
- Collection and interpretation of data and statistics;
- Development and administration of technical assistance programs; and
- Policy formulation and advice.

Mortality Investigations

The State Commission of Correction's Forensic Unit conducted twenty (20) mortality and eighteen (18) abridged mortality investigations. Those cases and their corresponding facilities are as follows:

Mental Health and Suicide Prevention

During the 1970's and early 1980's, suicide was the leading cause of death in county jails and preventable suicide emerged as a major source of successful litigation against local government. The Commission, in conjunction with the NYS Office of Mental Health (OMH), researched, developed and obtained federal financing for a state-of-the-art suicide prevention program that has yielded a sustained annual reduction in suicide of more than 70%, despite extraordinary increases in local inmate populations. The Commission and OMH deliver suicide prevention training to all incoming correction officers, either directly, or by offering training to established correctional staff who, in turn, trains their own incoming correction officers. The training conducted for incoming correction officers is an intensive eight hour module.

Beginning in 2010, the Commission and OMH completed a comprehensive training curriculum revision, the first revision since 2000. New training manuals, screening guidelines, and videos were produced. An initial pilot training was conducted with county corrections and mental health instructions in June 2011. The new curriculum was revised and screening guidelines were officially released in November 2011. The first full instructor course was conducted in December 2011 for the New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision.

Inmate Mortality During 2013

The following table lists the numbers and causes of death for inmates in all correctional facilities in New York State during the year 2013. The Commission receives notice of each of these deaths within 6 hours of occurrence. Each case is separately investigated by the Commission’s Forensic Medical Unit. Problematic cases are investigated in the field, carefully documented, presented to the Medical Review Board and published. In 2013, the Board and Commission published 24 problematic cases in which recommendations to prevent similar recurrence and to improve medical and mental health care were made to correctional facility administrators.

COUNSEL'S OFFICE

The Office of Counsel is responsible for the interpretation and analysis of all legal issues related to the work of the Commission. Part of this function includes the coordination of the Commission's legislative program, including the submission and review of legislation affecting the correctional and criminal justice system in New York State. The Commission has worked with administrators on a number of issues. Such collaborative work has included legislation aimed at reducing the number of mandated classification categories in local correctional facilities, assisting in the treatment of mentally ill inmates, facilitating the rapid and accurate transfer of vital medical information between facilities and the addition of a former correction officer to the Citizen's Policy and Complaint Review Council. In addition, agency attorneys represent the Commission in litigation related to conditions of confinement such as overcrowding, civil rights, and medical care. Counsel also acts in an enforcement capacity in regard to facility compliance with minimum standards.

In addition to all the above listed functions, Counsel's Office has developed a technical assistance approach to correctional jurisdictions by providing legal opinions to sheriffs and jail administrators.

Regulatory Reform

In 2013, the Commission amended sections 7032.5 and 7032.8 of Title 9 NYCRR to allow local correctional facilities to submit inmate grievances electronically.

Further, the Commission amended sections 7022.4, 7200.2, 7200.3, 7200.6, 7202.4, 7202.6 and 7202.11 of Title 9 NYCRR to amend the Commission of Correction's listed office address, reflecting its recent agency relocation to downtown Albany.

Sections 7002.2 and 7205.2 of Title 9 NYCRR were amended to reconcile a statutory amendment regarding agreements for the detention of foreign-state inmates in the Albany County Correctional Facility.

Section 7031.4 of Title 9 NYCRR was amended to eliminate the requirement that law libraries be maintained within a local correctional facility.
